“We’re working with vendors and artisans to bring everything from handmade jewelry, crafts and clothing to fruits and vegetables, goat cheese and baked goods,” explains Chris Blumenstetter, special events manager, Angel Fire Resort. “We’re expecting the event to grow as we are still hearing from additional interested vendors.”

Sponsors of the Cool Summer Night Concert Series include Enchanted Circle Brewing Company, Keller Williams Realty Angel Fire, Angel Fire Resort, Village of Angel Fire, Angel Fire Visitor Center and Sangre de Cristo Homebuilders Association. They say their hope is to give those who live, visit and recreate in the Enchanted Circle another option for music, art, food, while also bringing the community together.

“Bring your lawn chair, a blanket, your kids, or even your well behaved dogs! Don’t forget your tote bag either, you’ll need it to fill up on local art and food,” states Steve Larson, owner, Enchanted Circle Brewing Company.

Angel Fire is home (and home away from home) to year-round residents; short-term and long-term summer tourists; part-time residents; and regional guests from Taos and the Enchanted Circle. These new events will fill the need for many who are hungry for local art and food, according to Mike Hess, CMO, Angel Fire Resort. “It’s exciting to see businesses, artists and growers come together up here in Angel Fire. We already have so much to offer as far as outdoor activities and beautiful accommodations now adding fresh ideas like the Art + Farmers Market and the Cool Summer Night Concerts will give residents and visitors more entertainment this summer.”
